

AAUW NC
2009 CONVENTION

EXPANDING OUR HORIZONS: A CENTURY OF EXCELLENCE

The Wilmington Branch welcomes AAUW North Carolina Members and Members-at-Large to Convention 2009. Come to Wrightsville Beach, just east of Wilmington, as we honor our past and learn of the proposed changes for the future of AAUW. Connect with new and familiar friends as we celebrate 100 years of AAUW in North Carolina; in 1909 the Raleigh/Wake County Branch was formed, beginning a century of leadership and advocacy for women and girls.

The Blockade Runner Hotel was the site of the 2001 convention, and we have ordered that beautiful weather again to allow you an opportunity to walk the beach or visit historic downtown Wilmington. The format of the convention will be somewhat streamlined, with most of the meetings and events taking place on Friday, March 27. However, the great rate of $99 per night at this beachfront resort hotel is valid for Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights, so plan to make a mini-vacation out of your stay!

Included in this packet is a summary of the convention schedule to help you plan your weekend. There are also brochures featuring area attractions, golf course information, and an area map.

Branch Presidents: Please complete the forms for the Memorial Service and the voting delegates as soon as possible and return them as indicated on the respective forms (email or US mail).

We look forward to seeing you at the 2009 Convention!
